and courage that made him the public idol for five years. Over the six furlong course he defeated a trio of high class thoroughbreds, including Willis Sharp Kilmer's renowned Sun Briar.

To land home in front Roamer was compelled to do his best and to turn a form somersault which shocked the keen followers of the sport. But despite the reversal he received an ovation the like of which was seldom if ever accorded to a thoroughbred in this country. In volume and sincerity it even surpassed that which he received when he smashed the one mile world's record at Saratoga last summer.

As the galiant horse sped home three parts of a length in front of Sun Briar the 10,000 persons present arose as one and gave vent to their feelings of jubilation. They didn't cheer. They shrieked at the top of their lungs, and continued to shriek for several seconds. That ovation alone was a magnificent tribute to a popular and courageous horse. But it wasn't half of what was to come. As Roamer came prancing hack to the scales another roar went.

horse. But it wasn't haif of what was to come. As Roamer came prancing back to the scales another roar went up. This time it was louder and wilder and longer than the first. It seemed as if the thousands had gone plumb mad in their enthusiasm. And while the echoes of this "lung burst" were resounding over the Rockaway plains a third roar of approval went up. It he third roar of approval went up. It be-gan as the old fellow started back to his stable and continued until he had passed through the gate of the receiv-

Among those who joined in this triple ovation were thousands who had wag-ered against him. In the enthusiasm for the gallest victor of a hundred hard fought battles they forgot their losses and their poeviahness over his somer-sault. stamina and courage.

Roamer went wrong after he smashed Salvator's record at the Spa last summer, and last autumn couldn't beat a piater. Running the one mile course in the unprecedented time of 1:$4 4-5 in the unprecedented time of 1:34 4-5 sapped his speed and strength and made him a different horse. It not only slowed him up; it ruffled his even temper and made him sour and stubborn. He refused to "break" from the barrier even in his morning trials after it, and at the Empire City meeting he was retired.

During the winter he took on flesh and when he emerged from winter quarters looked as good as he ever did in his brilliant career. After a week or two of slow work he began to show a desire for speed, and in his subsequent trials went as fast as he ever had before. But when he was sent to the races he didn't race like his former self. He faltered twenty yards from the finish in his initial race and was beaten by the three-year-old Natural Bridge. He was tried again and again, but in each race he showed less than in his each race he showed less than in his previous one, and Jack Goldsborough, hin trainer, and Andrew Miller, his owner, announced that he had become cunning. They said he would work fast in the cool mornings and race badly in the hot afternoon. But even this statement did not cause his friends to for ment did not cause his friends to for-sake him. They gave him another trial. But he falled again and sadly, and re-luctantly his host of admirers admitted that sime had done its deadly work and that the consents the saddy work and that the once great champion would have to be content among the platers.

Roamer Third Choice. The distance yesterday was much shorter than he had been asked to race in several years, but because he had speed in his last performances he wasn't considered to have a chance to beat Sun Briar. post the third choice in a four horse Mr. Miller didn't believe his pet would win, but his trainer did. "If he draws a position on the outside where the track is fast he will win," said Mr. Goldsborough. "He has worked six furiongs in 1:12 and only the inside position where it is cuppy will keep him from victory." But even this assurance from the trainer would not make the owner confident of success.

Althouge the track was dull, if not cuppy, from the recent rain, Roamer sped over the six furiongs in the remarkably fast time of 1:12, only one second behind the record hung up by Tunderer in 1916.

Roamer's somersault was not the only one of the getaway day. In the Myrtle Selling Stakes R. F. Carman's Startling led home a big field of high class platers. After Startling won E. C. Elwell went in the sales ring and bid up the horse from $2,500, his entered selling price, to $3,500. Mr. Carman bid an extra $5 and retained him.

After the bidding Mr. Carman was one of the most exasperated men seen on the track in several years. He said all sorts of ugly things about Mr. Elwell for "boosting" his horse.

Sunny Hill Awarded a MISS WAGNER IN Race Run 5 Days Ago

THE stewards rubbed it in yesterday on all the racegoers who wagered on Sunny Hill, who wagered on Sunny Hill, the 30 to 1 shot which was beaten a whisker by John I. Day last Monday. They announced that they had disqualified John I. Day for carrying five pounds under weight and placed Sunny Hill the victor. This does not mean that those who wagered on Sunny Hill will cash their bets, or that those who bet on John I. Day will be compelled to return their winning wagers. The Jockey Club does not recognize betting, and the decision simply means that the owner of Sunny Hill will receive the purse instead of John I. Day.

George W. Loft owned John I. Day at the time of the race, and in entering him Max Hirsch forgot to announce that the horse had won a entering him max Hirsch forgot to announce that the horse had won a race in the South during the winter. That victory incurred a penalty of five pounds, and this Mr. Hirsch falled to put on him. The mistake was called to the attention of the stewards yesterday, and they lost no time in disqualifying John I. Day stewards yesterday, and they lost no time in disqualifying John I. Day.

Such a mistake does not often occur, but a similar one happened a decade ago when Father Bill Daly's Ventura beat a big field of platers at Morris Park. "Pa" forgot to announce the previous victory of his olt, and three days later the stewards learned of it and took the purse away from him. "Pa" was furious, and blamed "Mickey" Miles, his little jockey, for not reminding him of tle jockey, for not reminding him of it and fined him $50.

3 TENNIS FINALS

Qualifies in Singles, Doubles and Mixed Doubles in Eastern New York Tourney.

By EUGENE R. O'CONNELL. Miss Marie Wagner of the Hamilton Grange Lawn Tennis Club, the playing through champion, and Mrs. Edward Raymond will meet to-day in the final round of the women's singles in the tennis tournament for the Eastern New York State championship on the courts of the Mount Pleasant Tennis Club at Pleasantville. These players came through to the titular round yesterday by winning their semi-final round matches.

Walter C. Hagen of Oakland Hills, Detroit, national open champion, lost little time in brushing away the six strokes handicap left to him in Thursday's play to overtake the leaders and win the twelfth annual Metropolitan Golf Championship at the North Shore Country Club yesterday with a grand total of 294 strokes for the 72 holes of play. He cantered home three strokes ahead of Emmet French of York, who finished in second place with 297. Charlie Hoffner of Philmont, who led through Thursday, took third place with 299. No other finished as good as 300.

Not only did Hagen win by a margin which he got by holing a single putt after being in trouble all the way to the green.

Charlie Hoffner, who led the start to-day, dropped back after the morning round. He scored a 79. This allowed Emmet French, who had finished in second place the day before, to jump into the lead with his 76. Hagen, five sirokes behind French in the morning, finished one behind him for the morning round. He overtook French on the second hole of the afternoon round, when he scored a bird 2 against Emmet's par 4. On the fourth Hagen scored another birdie", a 4. against French's par 5 and took the lead. He was never headed from there out.
